Animatrice

Christine Pedley

An accomplished ceramist for over 40 years in La Borne, Christine's studies began in her native London, followed by five years of apprenticeship with master potters in England, Switzerland, Belgium, France and Japan.

She has been a professor of ceramics for 17 years at the "Ecole d'Art" at St Amand-Montrond, from 1993-2010.

A master of ceramic technique, she is renowned for her wood firing skills and salt glazing techniques.

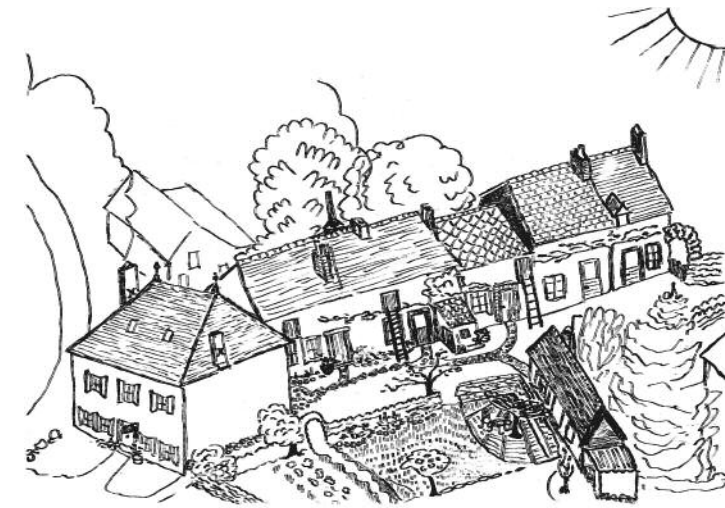

A true craftsman, her firm but friendly ways will quietly and surely set you on the path of self discovery.

"Pots, like all other forms of art are human expressions, pleasure, pain, or indifference before them depends on their natures, and their natures are inevitably projections of the minds of their creators." Bernard leach "A Potter's Book"

Open to Anyone

This workshop is open to anyone who wishes to discover their creativity as well as those who doubt that it exists for them...

Objectives

I will guide you on this unique journey of self-discovery through pottery. Take a sensory stroll, using your hands to touch and shape the clay. Allow your heart, hands, and soul to lead you to encounter the artist who dwells within each and everyone of us.

Contents

- Discover: The tactile qualities of ceramic raw materials.
- Discover: Various stoneware clays and porcelain.
- Discover: Hand building techniques, including, pinch pots, coiling, modelling, and slab building.
- Discover: The magic of the potter's wheel. (demonstration)

No prior experience is required for this introductory course.

Location

La Borne is situated in the heart of France between the historic city of Bourges and the vineyards of Sancerre. Surrounded by forest, this traditional potter's village has existed for over three centuries. The workshops and two holiday cottages are located in the village in a peaceful and attractive environment.
